Tourism Recreation Research - 2014

Tourism recreation research is an interdisciplinary field that explores the various factors influencing tourism and recreation experiences. This field of study is crucial in understanding the dynamics of tourism and recreation activities, which can have significant implications for economic development, environmental sustainability, and social well-being.

Towards Quality Urban Tourism - European Commission. Enterprise DG. Tourism Unit 2000

Built Environment - 1999

China Geography - 2000

Dissertation Abstracts International - 2009-08

Global Criminology and Criminal Justice: Russell Charles Smandych 2008 Global Criminology and Criminal Justice brings together 22 articles that constitute some of the most important research in the field.

Strong Economy, Strong City - New York City Economic Policy and Marketing Group 1993

Information Communication Technologies and City Marketing: Digital Opportunities for Cities Around the World - Gasc¢-Hernandez, Mila 2009-02-28 Examines how ICTs contribute to the development of city marketing strategies to enhance local socio-economic development. Covers topics such as city branding, export promotion, and identity marketing.

Cities in a Globalizing World - Un-Habitat 2012-06-25 'The world has entered the urban millennium. Nearly half the world's people are now city dwellers, and the rapid increase in urban population is expected to continue, chiefly in developing countries. The United Nations is giving greater priority to the powerful forces of globalization. The current focus of the International Conference on Human Settlements in a comprehensive review of conditions in the world's cities and the prospects for making them better, under greater stress as a result of globalization. I hope that it will provide additional momentum among those who shape our human environment, with officials and people who wish to see our cities safe and attractive for the large number of urban dwellers as a constructive determination. From the Foreword by Kofi Annan, Secretary-General, United Nations. Cities in a Globalizing World presents a comprehensive review of the world's cities and outlines the positive and negative impacts of the global trends towards social and economic integration and the rapid changes in information and communication technologies. In this Global Report, the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat) draws on specially commissioned and contributed background papers from more than 80 leading international specialists. The report focuses on recent trends in human settlements and their implications for poverty, inequity and social polarization. The report draws on specially commissioned background papers from more than 80 leading international specialists. The report draws on specially commissioned background papers from more than 80 leading international specialists. The report draws on specially commissioned background papers from more than 80 leading international specialists.'

Towards Quality Urban Tourism - European Commission. Enterprise DG. Tourism Unit 2000

Built Environment - 1999

China Geography - 2000

Dissertation Abstracts International - 2009-08

Global Criminology and Criminal Justice: Russell Charles Smandych 2008 Global Criminology and Criminal Justice brings together 22 articles that constitute some of the most important research in the field.

Strong Economy, Strong City - New York City Economic Policy and Marketing Group 1993

Information Communication Technologies and City Marketing: Digital Opportunities for Cities Around the World - Gasc¢-Hernandez, Mila 2009-02-28 Examines how ICTs contribute to the development of city marketing strategies to enhance local socio-economic development. Covers topics such as city branding, export promotion, and identity marketing.